September 1, 2020

The Idaho Behavioral Health Council \(IBHC\), a new a 13-member council created by Governor Brad Little, the ID Supreme Court, and the ID State Legislature to improve care for Idahoans with mental health and substance use disorders, is requesting your participation in a survey. The IBHC is beginning to work collaboratively with local government, educators, and community partners to develop a statewide strategic plan with action-oriented, time-bound recommendations that improve access to care.

We would appreciate if you could please complete this brief IBHC survey (<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/MTM-IDHW-G4>) . Your responses will be used to help inform the development of the strategic plan and will provide important perspectives related to the needs of Idahoans. The strategic plan will identify silos in Idaho’s behavioral health system and create a more coordinated model of care to improve lives and offer a better return on the investment of public resources.

The survey is open today and closes on 9/25/2020.

Thank you for your participation.
